

DATES ARE FIXED FOR TAX HEARINGS

Public Service Corporations Will Be on Rack Early Next Month.

TWO JAILBIRDS PARDONED

Man and Woman Released. Notes From Adjutant-General's Office.

Public service corporations throughout Virginia will be on the qui vive until after September 1, to know what their property assessments for the year will be placed at. Three days have been set apart by the State Corporation Commission on which to hear the parties in interest.

On September 1 the steam railroad and Pullman companies will be heard. The succeeding day was left vacant, so that the railroads, which constitute the big end of public service companies, might consume two days if necessary. Electric railways, light, heat and power, and gas and water companies will have their hearings on September 3, while on September 3 the telephone, canal, steamboat and express companies will bring up their case.

Includes All Property.

This assessment refers to the physical properties of all public service concerns. It includes tracks, rights of way, rolling stock, real estate, stations, and all visible property of every kind whatsoever. Upon this assessment is collected the State, school and pension taxes of 35 cents on the $100, and in addition whatever rate may be assessed by the city or county in which the property is located. It has no reference to the franchise tax, which is based on the gross earnings, the reports on which were first published in The Times-Dispatch yesterday morning.

It is within the province of the Corporation Commission to fix any rate for the assessment that it sees fit. There has been talk at different times, from various sources, as to the desirability of increasing the mileage rate on steam and electric railroads, but of course nothing is known as to what view is taken by the commission. At any rate, the corporations will be on the anxious bench until they hear from the result of the hearings.

For the listing of new property, the commission depends largely upon the reports of the companies. They are usually found to be complete, inasmuch as local commissioners of the revenue have to take the assessments of the commission, they rarely fail to make an examination of the books and to report property which has not been assessed.

TWO PARDONS ISSUED

Jail Prisoners Released on Condition of Good Behavior.

Governor Mann yesterday issued two minor conditional pardons, both local. One of the recipients was Kate Hardy, a negro woman confined in the Richmond City Jail on a twelve months' sentence for selling ardent spirits without a license. She has been in prison only about two months, but Dr. Gordon, the jail physician, certified that an illness from which she is suffering is a menace to the other prisoners, and recommended her release.

Jeff Mann, sent up from Police Court No. 2 for intoxication for six months was released on parole. He has served two months. Mann, who is a white man, will have to report once a week to Parole Officer J. G. Saunders for a year. His release was recommended by Police Justice Maurice.

Richard M. Bldgood, who was recently elected second lieutenant of Company B, Richmond Light Infantry Blues, has successfully passed his examinations, and will be commissioned within a day or two.

Judge Ingram Designated.

The Governor yesterday designated Judge John H. Ingram, of the Law and Equity Court of the city of Richmond, to preside over a special term of the Circuit Court of Orange county, beginning August 29. Judge Ingram will try the will case of Morris v. Gaines, in which Judge George S. Shackelford is incompetent to act.

About the Capitol.

S. W. Lyons, treasurer of Norfolk County, called at the office of the Auditor of Public Accounts yesterday. Attorney-General Samuel W. Williams has gone to Southwest Virginia on legal business. Colonel Carroll F. Kidd, of Bristol, a member of Governor Mann's staff, was a caller at the Capitol yesterday. T. Gray Haddon, stenographer to the attorney-general, has returned from his vacation.

CLOWES HELD ON ASSAULT CHARGE

Committed to Jail, and Will Be Tried at Special Term of Court September 5.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Williamsburg, Va., August 16.—A special grand jury in the Circuit Court here today returned an indictment against John H. Clowes, charging him with attempting to criminally assault Mrs. Charles E. Carey last Saturday night. Clowes was committed to jail, and Judge D. G. Tyler set the case for trial at a special term to be held Monday, September 5. Defendant's attorneys, Frank Armistead and B. D. Peachy, asked that the trial be continued until the next regular term of the court in October, but the court refused the request on the grounds that the public welfare demanded that assault cases be given as speedy a trial as possible.

Caleb Pierce, who was sent to the grand jury by a justice Sunday, charged with assaulting the wife of the late John H. Leonard, was promptly discharged after the indictment of young Clowes. Members of the grand jury were convinced that the evidence against the accused is very strong, the victim of the would-be assault swearing positively that Clowes, and not Pierce, was the guilty party.

Attorney C. T. Morris, of South Boston, has been retained by Mr. Carey to assist Commonwealth's Attorney N. L. Henley in the prosecution.

Taylor-Perkins.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Newport News, Va., August 16.—Miss Mary Claudie Perkins, daughter of Robert W. Perkins, of this city, and Charles Albert Taylor, of Richmond, were quietly married this afternoon at 4 o'clock at the home of the bride's grandfather, Dr. Carter Perkins, 111 Thirty-second Street. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. G. Starr, D. D., pastor of Trinity Methodist Church.

Miss Perkins were a white lingerie gown. She wore a white dress, and Miss Anne Perkins, who was dressed in yellow messaline and carried malden-hair ferns. Selden Warner, of Dunnville, Essex county, attended the groom as best man. Little Misses Lillie and Mary Lett, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Lett, were flower girls. The bride entered with her grandfather, who gave her in marriage. Miss Janet Freeman, of Stony Creek, rendered the bridal march.

After the wedding the bridal party left for Old Point by automobile. After the honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. Taylor will make their home in Richmond, where Mr. Taylor is principal of one of the city public schools.

Mr. Taylor, who is a native of Urbana, Middlesex county, was the star football player at William and Mary College three years ago. Last year he was a member of the faculty of the Newport News High School.

Makes Trip to Nova Scotia.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Lynchburg, Va., August 16.—Dr. William W. Smith, chancellor of the Randolph-Macon system, and president of the Woman's College, has gone to Nova Scotia to spend the summer. He will return home prior to the reopening of the college for the 1910-1911 session.

Enforcing Sanitary Measures.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Norfolk, Va., August 16.—To-day the Health Department began a campaign among the dispensers of soda water, dairy lunches and places of like character, to see that general sanitary measures are observed and cleanliness exercised in the handling of eatables. Food Inspector Harmon is doing the work, under the direction of Health Commissioner Dupuy.

CREDIT MEN HERE FOR CONVENTION

DISCUSS MANY QUESTIONS

Co-Operative Organization Brings Delegates From All Sections of Country.

Every section of the country is represented at the fifth annual convention of the National Association of Mercantile Agencies which is in session here. Delegates are in attendance from practically every city of size and importance in the United States.

The association is composed of a number of individual agencies whose business is to furnish to clients credit, financial or insurance reports on private individuals, business men, firms or corporations. It is a co-operative organization whose purpose is to assist the individual members in the conduct of their respective agencies, doing business in all parts of the country, compose the association at the present time. Growth has been rapid and consistent, and it is confidently expected that the membership will reach 200 within the next two years.

Guests Welcomed.

Owing to the delayed arrival of the president, William H. Burr, of Rochester, N. Y., the opening session which was to have been held yesterday morning, was postponed until 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Convention headquarters are at the Richmond Hotel.

The president called the convention to order, and an invocation was offered by Rev. John Moncreuf, D. D.

Mayor D. C. Richardson arrived and smiling from a torrential down-pour of rain which was in progress outside. In opening his remarks he called attention to the fact that he had hoped the members would give him credit for having intended to be on time. The Mayor's welcome to the delegates was a most cordial one, and was received with a burst of applause.

In responding President Burr had referred to the city as one of historic interest to all sections of the country. The president also took occasion to compliment the State, declaring that Virginia had given to the nation Jefferson, Washington and Lee. If it never does anything else, he said, it has more than accomplished its share.

The roll call showed twenty-two members in attendance. Many of the firms that belong to the association are represented by proxy, however, and in the several questions that are to be decided, very near the entire voting strength will be present. The president's report showed that the association has passed through another successful year. It also called attention to several questions of importance which are scheduled to be discussed, if not decided, at this time. One of these questions is with reference to the employment of a collector by the association as a whole. Another has to do with the adoption of a credit system which was originated and is being used by G. Norris Schuman, the Richmond member of the association. Still another question that was discussed was the revision of the business extension, a question concerning some change in the coupon system now being used.

One Woman Delegate.

Meetings of the various committees were held preparatory to the reporting of these committees to the convention this morning. An invitation from the St. Paul member asked the association to meet in that city next year. The twin cities—St. Paul and Minneapolis—are after the next convention, and seem to be in a fair way of securing it.

An element of novelty at the meeting was the introduction of Miss N. H. Leonard, a delegate from Worcester, Mass. While the convention party included the wives of several of the members, Miss Leonard is the only delegate who is not of the sterner sex. A feature of the session was the reading of a valuable paper on business extension by Z. Dowling, of Detroit.

Last evening the delegates and their wives were entertained at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Schuman, 2340 West Grace Street. This morning practically the entire session will be given to the report of the committees, and the business session will be followed by an automobile ride over the city. To-morrow the next place of meeting will be selected. To-morrow's program also includes a visit to the State Capitol, the Confederate Museum, John Marshall home and other places of interest. A banquet at the Jefferson at night will bring the convention to a close. The officers of the National Association of Mercantile Agencies are as follows: President, William H. Burr.

ABANDONED IT FOR THE OLD FASHIONED COFFEE WAS KILLING.

"I always drank coffee with the rest of the family, for it seemed as if there was nothing for breakfast if we did not have it on the table.

"I had been troubled for some time with my heart, which did not feel right. This trouble grew worse steadily.

"Some times it would beat fast and at other times very slowly, so that I would hardly be able to do work for an hour or two after breakfast, and I walked up a hill it gave me a severe pain.

"I had no idea of what the trouble was until a friend suggested that perhaps it might be caused by coffee drinking. I tried leaving off the coffee and began drinking Postum. The change came quickly. I am now glad to say that I am entirely well of the heart trouble, and attribute the cure to leaving off coffee and the use of Postum.

"A number of my friends have abandoned coffee and have taken up with Postum, which they are using steadily. There are some people that make Postum very weak and tasteless, but if it is boiled long enough, according to directions, it is very delicious beverage. We have never used any of the old fashioned coffee since Postum was first started in our house."

AGED WOMAN BEATS HEAD OF RATTLES INTO A PULP

Uses Stout Pole on Snake Which Was Approaching Forth on Which She Was Seated.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Fredericksburg, Va., August 16.—A few evenings ago, just before sunset, Miss Ittie Hammett, whose residence is in Stafford county, about four miles from this city, was sitting on her porch when she heard some of her fowls making a distressed sound. She looked and saw an enormous rattlesnake not ten feet from the porch steps moving belatedly toward her. Without a moment's hesitation she stepped from the porch, raised a stout pole, which was fortunately near at hand, and rained blows upon the snake till in a few seconds it was broken to a pulp. Its horrible rattles shrilly sounding all the time. It had seven fully formed rattles and one partly formed. Miss Hammett is an old woman, well up in the seventies, and a sufferer from rheumatism. There are few of her age and strength who would have had the courage to attack single-handed such a monster.

The machinery of the brick-making plant, owned by George J. Fletcher, in this city, was sold at auction and purchased by Granville R. Swift for $1120.

Four wagonloads of gypses have arrived here and are in camp just outside the city limits.

The revival at Massaponox Baptist Church, in Spotsylvania county, conducted by Rev. Decatur Edwards, of this city, closed Friday night, and resulted in seven additions to the church.

BREAKS ON STREET WILL BE REPAIRED

Staunton Council Discusses Plans for Filling Up Caves.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Staunton, Va., August 16.—The Council to-day appointed a joint committee to direct the repaving of the breaks on Baldwin Street, and the committee held a conference, as a result of which it directed the general manager to proceed with boring to locate the course and size of the cavern, to examine Lewis Street carefully, with a view to opening up the street car traffic on it as soon as possible, and to have the city engineer, on Walnut Street, and make the foundation of the public school building properly safe. The committee also discussed plans for filling up the caves on Walnut Street, and will be decided on later, and will not be done until it knows a great deal more about the character of the caves. Water has been due to blocking the channel by debris.

DECLARES RATES NOT HIGH ENOUGH

Newman Pays Hotel Double Amount Asked and Proves an Easy Spender.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Roanoke, Va., August 16.—Walter George Newman, New York millionaire and North Carolina govt. mine owner, who struck Roanoke with a vim last night and offered a $1,000 bill for a new cuss word, left town today in his touring car for Salisbury, N. C., without having added the much wanted bit of profanity to his strenuous vocabulary.

He took a spin through the city this morning and exhibited a novel feature in auto transportation by using a negro valet, dressed as a minstrel man for a trumpeter, instead of bringing into commission the ordinary horn. At all street corners the lady-dressed valet stood and blew shrill blasts on a cornet. When Newman went to settle his hotel bill for the handsome suite he and his party occupied last night he emphatically told the clerk the rates were too low, and demanded that he be permitted to pay double the regular amount.

An inventory of the money tills in a number of local establishments to-day showed a goodly sum of Newman's riches, and Roanoke people are wishing for the easy spender speedy return.

Newman was a newsboy on the streets of Richmond, engaged in cow-punching in the West, gained J. Pierpont Morgan's attention and made millions in Wall Street. He married a Lynchburg girl and has a brother in Richmond.

CHARGED WITH RUNNING AUTO WITHOUT LIGHTS

Warrant Against Driver of Car in Which Congressman Maynard Made Trip.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Suffolk, Va., August 16.—A Sunday dash of Congressman Harry L. Maynard and C. L. Lewis, his local campaign manager, through Nansemond county, is about to result in a court prosecution.

A warrant to-day was sworn out against L. M. Edgerton, who was charged with running a motor car at night without headlights, and also with turning a curve without blowing. The case will be called to-morrow.

There was a jail delivery to-day of four dogs, which were doomed to execution to-morrow, as a consequence of the running of a motor car at night without headlights, and also with turning a curve without blowing. The case will be called to-morrow.

IN SESSION AT DANVILLE.

Roanoke Baptist Association Convenes With Large Attendance.

The association composed of thirty-four churches, churches located at this Danville and Pittsylvania, with one exception. About 150 delegates are in attendance.

The first session was held to-day and was merely of a routine character. Rev. G. C. Duncan presiding. The introductory sermon, Rev. T. Ryland Sanford delivered the response. Dr. B. C. Henning spoke of the new Roanoke College for women, while the night session was devoted to education and missions. The association will come to a close Thursday. The corner stone of the new Roanoke College will be laid to-morrow at 9:30 o'clock with Masonic services.

PLEA FOR PRAYER AMONG CHRISTIANS

Laymen's National Secretary Points Out Needs of Missions.

OPEN CONFERENCE HELD

Gathering at Montreat Hears Several Interesting Discussions.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Montreat, N. C., August 16.—No single day of the conference of the Laymen's Missionary Movement has been crowned with greater success than that of yesterday. The attendance was large, the messages of the speakers were full of earnestness and zeal, and the atmosphere of deep spirituality pervaded every meeting.

Rev. W. L. Dobyns, D. D., president in the morning the character of the men from Macedonia, in the fourth of the Bible studies which he has given to the conference. His closing words were an earnest plea for Christians to be consistent; that if they believe the Scriptures, which teach there is hope of salvation in none other than Jesus Christ, for them to remember there are 900,000,000 people in the world to-day on their way to Christless graves, and that this condition can be changed only by the answer of the call of the man of Macedonia, by the Christians of to-day.

Promotion of Prayer.

The speaker this afternoon was Charles H. Pratt, the recently elected district secretary of the National Laymen's Missionary Movement. His theme was "The Promotion of Prayer." He showed first that prayer is the origin and the life of the whole missionary enterprise; that Jesus Christ spent whole nights in prayer before sending out His disciples into the world; that the missionary enterprise had its origin in His prayer, and that modern missions also were wrought by prayer. Many people, he said, are prone to think modern missions is a result of the work of missionaries and money, and he cited the fact that the London Missionary Society, the American Board, the Student Volunteer Movement and the Laymen's Missionary Movement all have been the direct results of prayer.

Mr. Pratt next urged the prayer life in the individual, prayer not so much for self as for the world, showing that the very passion of our Lord's praying was not for Galilee, Judea, nor for His disciples, but for the world, and what the salvation of the world should be the great object in the prayers of Christians to-day.

"Open Conference" Held.

An interesting "open conference" followed this address, Rev. D. Clay Lilly, D. D., leading the conference. The questions considered were: "What is that has taught men to pray, and how to get rid of the mere form which prevails in the prayers offered in a large per cent of church prayer meetings and other devotional services of the church, and secure instead prayers of real earnestness and fervor?" The statement was made that the devotional services in most churches are a pitiable burlesque of what it should be.

The men present made a number of suggestions as possible answers to the questions under consideration. Most of those offered with reference to getting prayer meetings out of "ruts" recommended the injection of the missionary spirit into the service.

Dr. Lilly Makes Address.

Two speakers were heard yesterday evening, Dr. Lilly and Willis R. Hotchkiss. Dr. Lilly's theme was: "I want that God the Lord will speak." His entire discourse might well be designated as an earnest plea for the recognition of the earnestness of God to-day and His speaking to His followers to-day, as against the theory prevalent in the minds of many that God is far removed from the world at the present time, and that if He ever spoke to men it was a long time ago.

He spoke then of the different ways in which God speaks to men, and urged that if His voice is to be heard men must be quiet before Him, must draw near to Him, must listen to Him, and must be obedient to Him when He speaks.

Mr. Hotchkiss delivered another of his thrilling appeals to Christians in America to heed the cry of the millions of untaught souls in other lands for the gospel of Jesus Christ. The church, he said, never has realized the meaning of the words of Jesus when He said: "Other sheep I have, which are not of this fold, and which I must bring with me, and there shall be one fold, one shepherd," and that the reason why the world has so long been flooded with darkness instead of light is because men and women in the church have been living in the subjunctive mood, and that when they begin living in the indicative mood different conditions will exist.

Plea for Unselfishness.

He pleaded for the unselfish spirit on the part of Christians, the spirit that will make them willing to be spent, and even to die if need be for the sake of Jesus Christ, in order to give His gospel to others. The only way to win the kingdom, he said, is the way of the kingdom, which is the way of sacrifice, and that the willingness of service is measured by the willingness to be burned out in service for God, and that when the church catches the spirit and passion of the soul of Jesus Christ, the mission of her work of saving others, and will cease crucifying Him upon the cross of her convenience. Both Dr. Lilly and Mr. Hotchkiss spoke with an earnestness and convincing power seldom witnessed, and there was a peculiar stillness in the attention on the part of the audience, which called forth comment. The entire day will stand out as one of the days most productive of good during the entire Montreat season.
